Oakdene Forest Park is set in 55 acres of glorious parkland at St Leonards in Hampshire, only 9 miles from Bournemouth's sandy beaches. A uniquely peaceful location, it's over half a mile from the nearest road, with the Avon Forest a stunning backdrop.

The countryside is literally on your doorstep, with bridle paths leading straight into the Avon Forest which is a haven for deer, badgers, foxes, squirrels and all kinds of birds. In each direction there are nature reserves, country parks and Forestry Commission land- You'll feel yourself unwind as you escape today's pressures and enjoy being so close to nature.

To the west is a copse of wild rhododendron bushes, providing a delightful splash of colour throughout the spring and early summer; to the east and forming a natural boundary is the beautiful Avon Forest and to the south there are glorious views over to the Moors Valley river to the unspoilt meadows beyond.
